Regarding Education, Health and Care Plans

1. How many children have British Sign Language mentioned as a special educational need in their Education, Health and Care Plan?

4

2. Has this changed over the last three years?

Yes

3. Of these, how many children have British Sign Language tuition (for them or for their parents/carers/family) named in the provision section of the plan?

None

4. Has this changed over the last three years? • How are these provisions fulfilled? • Are any of these provisions made through personal budgets?

No – the pupils mentioned are native BSL users, born to deaf parents in 3 cases. Therefore they do not require any tuition. In terms of the fourth case, the parent attends sign tuition independently
